The Boom that Backs Sherman. From the Tonawands (N. Y.) Iudex

There is a widespread feeling in the country against a third term for any man. There remains Blaine and Sherman; either of these is an able man, and would make an honest, efficient, and conscientious President. Of the two we are inclined to think Sherman the better man for the place, and hope to see him nominsted. He has a "boom" to back him-one of gigantic proportions and constantly increasing.
